A Powerful Syndicate.

Salvation Town Company—Limited, capital stock $500,000. Incorporators, C. D. Terry, N. F. Siedler, G. L. Crouse, G. H. Slack, A. W. Sliver and M. W. Di-
evy. Cities, towns and villages furnished to order on short notice for any counties in the southwest. Towns with all corner lots and all facing east, extra. Small cities with large bonded debts and six per cent taxes will be sold on private terms—one-half cash, balance in five years at eight per cent and no commission. Colonies going west and disembarking at Wichita can have a county seat and railway center made to order and shipped C. O. D. to Comanche, Clark, Seward or any of the western counties; special discount on job lots. A first-class county seat and railway terminus with water, gas, street cars and temperance attachments, telephone and a Wichita superintendent to run it a year, comes high. Medium cities one square mile in extent with twelve additions, all platted, and a picture of a $50,000 court house, with a buffalo bull and an Indian in the distance and a city park all set to cottonwoods, the latest thing out are offered at wholesale rates. No pioneers going west can afford to be without a town. Address enclosing stamp, "Powerful Syndicate" Wichita, Kansas, for maps, charts and further particulars.—[Eldorado (Kansas) Republican.

President Taylor's Visit.

In the address to the 'saints' the reason which is ascribed for President Taylor's late visit to Arizona is that he went there "to visit with and, so far as possible, comfort the saints." Is this quite the whole truth? Is it not true that he and the rest went there with a purpose, if possible, of founding a colony beyond the border, that they might "remove the keys" to a new land, and, making a home for polygamists in a new kingdom, cause the practice to cease in Utah? Would it not be just as well to state the facts and to admit that it failed because the government of Mexico would not have it so? Probably it would not do to tell these things, because it would be a fresh reminder that, however much this people may rave against what they are pleased to call persecutions, there is not, after all, any other country except our own where they would be permitted to remain on any conditions.—[Salt Lake Tribune.

The Buffalo Gnat.

For many years past one of the greatest pests the stock raiser of the West has had to contend with has been the "buffalo gnat." This insect is a small fly, closely related to the well known "black fly" of the Northwestern woods. At certain seasons it swarms in immense numbers, and by its poisonous bite, multiplied a thousand-fold, causes great destruction among sheep, cattle, hogs, poultry, horses and mules.

General Wolsey, who is now trying to crawl out of the Sudan, is a snob who once thought to belittle General Grant, the soldier, by referring to him as Mr. Grant. Had Grant no title he would from every point of view rise above Wolsey with all the titles his country could confer, as rises the mountain above the little hillock of the pismire.—[Albuquerque Journal.
